

RULES FOR PRIMARIES,

A Code Compiled in Conformity With the West Virginia Law

FOR THE USE OF REPUBLICANS,

By a Gentleman who Has Given Much Study to the Question--The Rules May be Changed to Suit Localities by the County Committees When Ordering Primary Elections.

The following rules for the conduct of County Republican primary elections have been carefully compiled for the INTELLIGENCER by a gentleman of experience who has studied the question thoroughly. They are made to conform with the new West Virginia law, and are subject to change to suit conditions and locality. They are suggested for the use of Republican committees in counties where candidates are to be nominated at primary elections:

1. The County Republican Committee shall consist of one person from each magisterial district, who shall be elected at each primary election held for the election of candidates for the various offices to be nominated at each Presidential election, and elected in the same manner as the other candidates, and whose duty it shall be to elect an executive committee.

2. The election of all candidates for office, and for the position of county committee, shall be by ballot and by ballot only, and be held agreeably to the provisions of chapter 67 of the Acts of the Legislature of West Virginia of 1891, and in the following manner:

3. The primary election shall be held at the places for holding the general elections in the several magisterial districts and at such other places as the county committee may designate, and between the hours of 2 and 7 p. m. on the day named in the call of the county committee. The election shall be by ballot, and only members of the Republican party who shall, at the next ensuing general election be qualified to vote, shall vote at said primary election, and no person shall be entitled to vote save in the magisterial district only where he resides.

4. The names of all candidates for office and for county committee to be voted for shall be on a single ballot. The names of all candidates for each office shall be printed on each ticket in alphabetical order, under the respective headings of the positions for which they are candidates. The voter shall cross the names of all candidates but those of the persons for whom he desires to cast his ballot. No voter, however, shall vote for more candidates for any office than are to be nominated for said office; and if any voter shall do so his ballot, for that particular office shall not be counted.

The candidate for each office receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. Should there be a tie between two or more candidates, the choice shall be made by drawing ballots by the tied candidates, or decided by lot by the county committee, as the candidates interested may agree.

5. The primary election shall be conducted at each voting place by a board consisting of one judge and two inspectors or clerks, to be selected by the county committee.

In case of the absence of one member of the board the two members present shall appoint; when two are absent the one member present shall appoint one, and these two shall select the third; and when all are absent, the assembled voters shall elect.

Said board shall keep a list of all persons voting, and when the polls are closed, and not before, make a tally of the votes cast for each person voted for and give certificates thereof along with said tally sheets and ballots, sealed in the same package, to the committee-man for that magisterial district. It shall be the duty of such committee-man to lay the same before the county committee at their first meeting after the said election, which said meeting shall be held as soon thereafter as practicable upon the call of the chairman, notice of which meeting shall be published in each of the Republican newspapers of the county at least ten days before said election. It shall be the duty of said committee at said meeting to canvass the said returns and give certificates of election to each candidate elected, signed by the chairman and secretary thereof.

6. When from any cause a vacancy shall occur in the ticket after said election, the county committee, at a meeting to be called for the purpose, and which purpose shall be stated in the call, shall elect a candidate to fill the vacancy.

7. Immediately after the result of the primary election is declared the newly elected committee-men shall meet and organize by electing a chairman and an executive committee consisting of the chairman of the county committee, who shall be chairman of the executive committee, and two other persons, one of whom shall be designated as secretary.

8. The chairman of the county committee shall call the committee together at any time upon the request of a majority of the county committee or of the executive committee; and if the chairman should refuse, after such request, to issue a call for such meeting, it shall then be the duty of the secretary of said executive committee to issue such call.

9. No substitute for a member of the county committee shall be admitted at any meeting thereof unless the person substituted is a Republican voter of the district to be represented and presents the writing of his principal authorizing him to act in his place.

10. In case of a vacancy in the county committee or the executive committee occurring by death, removal, or otherwise, the same shall be filled by the county committee, with a Republican voter of the district where the vacancy exists, who shall serve until the next election of committee-men.

11. The county committee for the purpose of raising funds to defray the election expenses shall assess all persons who may announce themselves as candidates for any office to be voted for at the primary election, as they may deem necessary and proper for the purpose. Every person desiring to be voted for as a candidate for office at such primary election shall, not later than ten (10) days before such election, present his announcement, together with the said assessment, to the chairman of the county committee. No person neglecting or refusing to pay such assessment, as above provided, shall be recognized as a candidate of the party, nor shall his name appear on the ballots.

12. All such elections being party elections, and held to ascertain the voice of the party, no Democrat can vote therein, nor shall the commissioners holding the same permit any persons to vote therein who are not known to be Republicans, and in sympathy with the principles, practices and usages of the organization known as the Republican party, and who manifest the same by their voice and votes, or who declare now and hereafter to vote and act with the Republican party.

13. Every voter is required to deposit his ballot in the district wherein he resides; and no one can deposit it for him in an envelope or in any other manner.

14. The election of all candidates shall be given by publication in each Republican newspaper of the county for at least once in each week for four successive weeks immediately preceding the election, and by posting a copy thereof at each place where the election is to be held for a like period. Said notice shall contain the date of said election, the names of the places in each magisterial district where it is to be held, the names of the persons appointed to conduct the election at each voting place, the schedule of assessments, and such other information as the county committee or the chairman thereof may deem necessary for the information of voters.

15. The ballots, poll-books, tally-sheets, certificates, etc., shall be prepared under the superintendence of the chairman of the county committee, who shall take care that the same are distributed among the several voting places in time for the election. Should the same, or any part thereof, be missing or inadequate at any election place, the persons appointed to conduct the election thereat shall cause others to be written or printed.

16. The said ballots may have printed on them such instructions to aid the voter in preparing his ballot as the county committee or the executive committee may deem proper.

17. In all matters not covered by these rules, the general election law of this state shall apply so far as it is applicable.

NO TRUST AGREEMENT

Is Lawful in Ohio--The Case Decided Against the Standard Oil Company.

COLUMBUS, O., March 1.--The supreme court of Ohio, in the case of the state, ex rel. Attorney General Watson, vs. the Standard Oil Company, handed down a decision to-day of importance concerning trusts. This case was instituted by a petition in quo warranto to oust the company from its corporate rights and to forfeit its franchise. The judgment of the court is to oust the company from the right to make the trust agreements set forth in the petition and of the power to perform the same.

This is all the attorney general desired. He had no animosity toward the company and did not desire to deprive it of corporate rights as enjoyed by others, but because of trust agreements, which were contrary to law. Under the decision the company will be allowed to continue corporate powers, for which Joseph H. Choate argued in behalf of the company. The decision of the supreme court sustains the attorney general's demurrer to the answer of the Standard, which set up the defense that the trust agreement was entered into by individuals and not by the company as a corporation holding a franchise. While the decision does not oust the company from its franchise, it prohibits them from in any way continuing to carry out or fulfill any provisions or agreements under trust contract.

The attorney general of New York has papers ready to file against the Standard in that state, prepared in contemplation of this decision.

THE RICHMOND TERMINAL

The New Organization About Completed. Outline of the Scheme.

New York, March 1.--The Oleott committee met last night to discuss the final details of the Richmond Terminal organization scheme. All of the terms of the plan, it was said, had been agreed upon and the only remaining question to be settled was the formation of the syndicates to carry out the financial part of the plan.

The scheme agreed upon requires that the large sum of $35,000,000 shall be raised for the purpose of paying off floating debts and placing the new corporation which is to succeed the Richmond Terminal Company on a solid financial basis. It has been the hope of those interested in the reorganization that this money will be raised by two separate but co-operating syndicates. The new securities will be distributed in some such way as this: "A cash payment of $8,000 will secure $10,000 in 4 per cent consolidated bonds, $1,500 in income bonds, and $2,500 in preferred stock. The present stockholders will be offered the privilege of coming in on these terms. The syndicates will take the securities on the same basis, with the exception that they receive 2 1/2 per cent cash commission for their service in underwriting the new securities."

A GOOD IDEA.

Original Investigation of Great American Problems--A Valuable Service to Americans.

The number for March begins the seventh year of the Forum, and for its seventh year several new enterprises in periodical work are announced: First and foremost, the silver question. The discussion of the silver question has reached its acute stage in Congress and is, in consequence, before public attention in a more serious form than ever before. The March number contains two papers on it--one by Mr. Bland, who makes his best argument for silver, and the other by Mr. Leach, director of the mint, who writes to show that in case of free coinage, Europe would dump its silver on us. In the following months the Forum will publish the most thorough discussion of this subject that has been made, by the foremost writers of both continents. These articles will be a special feature of forthcoming numbers.

The educational investigation into the work of the public schools in the several large cities of the Union has already been announced, and Dr. J. M. Rice, the special student of the most advanced school work abroad, is now engaged in this task. His articles will begin in an early number. In the March number are two noteworthy educational articles--one by Mr. Clarence King, on "The Education of the Future," wherein he shows the narrow limitations of our teaching, and points out the yet undeveloped fields and methods, and the other by Prof. John Earle, the greatest authority on his subject, on "The Study of English."

Another line of special work laid down by The Forum is an investigation and discussion of municipal government, which is confessedly the weak place in our whole governmental system. The present number contains an investigation made by Prof. Peabody, of Harvard, into the municipal government of Dresden. The peculiarities both as warnings and as examples that have been developed by interesting experiments in the leading American cities will be explained by experts, and indeed, the whole subject of municipal government will be gone over thoroughly, with regard also to its bearings on politics.

The progress of the most important arts and sciences will make a continuous feature of the coming volumes of The Forum, such as music, sculpture, painting, architecture, the practical application of electricity, the progress of astronomy. Another group of subjects--old subjects that scientific progress makes of perpetual interest--will be good country roads, and how well they pay; scientific agriculture and its possibilities; what the coming man will eat and how he will cook it; and the like.

Besides the silver question, the most important political topics of the year are likely to be pensions, immigration, and the tariff, about all which the results of fresh study by the best equipped men will be published. The Forum will take an active and leading part in the political discussion of the Presidential campaign.

The great industrial and commercial tasks of the time will continue to be among the leading topics--all to show how we may at an early time win the commercial supremacy of the world; and in religion, literature, and social science, the most instructive phases of thought will be presented, as they have hitherto been.

The special development of The Forum will be in the direction of original investigation by experts and authorities into all classes of subjects of the greatest concern to readers who wish to keep abreast in their thought and lives with the world's progress; and the aim is never to thresh over old straw.
